

Transitional Results Framework

OVERVIEW

Nimpala is at a critical juncture in the transition to sustainable development. The transitional results framework cluster matrices spreadsheet is the government's ambitious proposal prioritizing the key issues they have identified in the recovery process. The chart outlines the identified priorities and process for recovery, with expected results over the short, medium and long-term development process.

The report represents the outcome of the Government of Nimpala's integrated development planning and is a recommendation to the joint mission with the United Nations and bilateral donors. It represents the government's efforts to consolidate peace, attain broad-based growth, effectively target poverty reduction, and sustain human development towards the MDGs.

The period covered in this plan addresses the three phases of development: the short term that covers the 1st year, medium term which covers 1-3 years and long term which covers the 3-6 year period.
